Teaching A Love of Nature and Learning

NEED A BREAK? JOIN US ON A NATURE WALK

Who We Are

The Environmental Volunteers (the E.V.) is a local environmental education nonprofit that connects people with nature. Our mission is to promote understanding of and responsibility for the environment through hands-on science education.

At the E.V. our goal is to introduce people to the wonders of the natural world and inspire responsible environmental stewardship.

What We Do

We offer nature education programs for adults and kids.

We lead field study excursions in local nature preserves.

We explore the San Francisco Bay marshes. We bird watch. We explore tide pools.

We track the San Andreas Fault as we learn earthquake geology.

All our programs are fun, informative, and do not require much physical exertion.

YOU ARE INVITED

We know that these are challenging times for the 'future employed'. And, we know that the stresses of unemployment affect not only the jobseeker, but families as well. We are offering opportunities to escape the burdens and the stress for a few hours. We invite you to join us on a very fun, very cool outdoor experience exploring the local natural world.

There is no cost for these programs. You will not be solicited for a donation.

Option 1: Take A Break & Take A Hike!
Join us on a 2-hour nature walk as we explore the local flora and fauna.
It will clear your mind and soothe your soul.

Option 2: Take The Family & Take a Hike!
Weekend excursions for parents with children. Treat your kids to a 2-hour adventure where they can taste, touch and smell their way to a nature education. Easy enough for kids. Fun enough for adults to act like kids.

Option 3: Giving Back – Volunteer & Make A Difference!
Looking for an opportunity to give back to community? How about a few hours of volunteer service? Have fun while doing good.
